PRÓIS GOES THE DISTANCE WITH ALL NEW PRÓIS XTREME™ VEST

Próis Hunting Apparel has never shied away from extreme measures when it comes to designing the ultimate in hardcore, high performance hunting apparel for female hunting enthusiasts. These savvy hunters know that when they're in the field, they have to hunt smart to hunt successfully. That means strategic layering — and Próis has answered the call for this crucial element with its new-for-2010 Próis Xtreme vest — a lean, mean, insulated layering extreme that maximizes thermoregulation, keeping heat close to your core.

This beautifully engineered new vest is insulated with 150gm Thinsulate Ultra inside a waterproof, yet breathable soft and silent shell, and is lined with Próis' signature nylon tricot layering system to keep you warm and dry, while providing incredible ease of mobility. It's designed for maximum warmth without the bulk of other layering items that can turn you into a camo-clad version of the Michelin Man. The Próis Xtreme vest comes with a roomy hood and the company's famous exclusive ducktail feature that unsnaps at the base to instantly create a dry, warm place to sit — an ingenious and welcome addition during long chilly hours of waiting out prey.

It was created to be a perfect fit under Próis' renowned Xtreme jacket, or simply worn over base layers as the day and the hunt heat up. The Próis Xtreme vest is available in both Realtree AP and Realtree Advantage Max1 in a wide range of sizes, so it's perfect for any hunter who means business. And like all of the field-tested Próis designs, was created by serious women hunters, for serious women hunters — so every detail, from the most technologically advanced, rugged new materials to the signature innovative design features — is developed to let hunters concentrate on the task at hand rather than worrying about their gear.
