TRANSPORT YOUR HUNTING GEAR IN ALL-DAY COMFORT AND CONVENIENCE WITH THE NEW FIELDLINE MONTANA BACKPACK™

Hunting and outdoor enthusiasts have to be ready for whatever a long day in the field brings. And that means taking along a quality daypack that's both comfortable and functional to organize and carry important gear. That's why the specialists at Fieldline® have introduced the all-new for 2010 Fieldline Montana Backpack™ — the ultimate daypack designed with premium features tailor-made to meet the needs of the avid outdoorsman.

Ideal for your day excursion into the great outdoors, the new Fieldline Montana Backpack is equipped with a spacious main compartment (measuring 12"W x 16.5"H x 8"D) that will consume just about anything you want to feed it — clothing, food, ammo, flashlight, water purifier, first aid kit and more. A full-front pocket with Velcro-ed flap closure makes quickly stashing additional gear a cinch, and accessing it later even easier. In addition, Fieldline incorporated a large side zippered accessory pocket — providing hunters with additional storage and immediate access to important smaller items like calls, scents, GPS units, cell phones and radios. Plus, this handy pack will help keep you hydrated under the midday sun with its included side pocket designed to house your water bottle — ensuring thirst-quenching relief is within arm's reach, even while you're on the move.

The Fieldline Montana Backpack is as comfortable as it is functional. Deluxe articulated padded shoulder straps allow for maximum comfort and freedom of movement, while a convenient sternum strap provides additional support for heavy loads and allows each hunter to adjust the pack to his/her torso shape. Adding to the comfort and function of this pack are a padded waist belt and a high-density foam padded back.

Made from heavy-duty water resistant fabric, the Fieldline Montana Backpack is available in either Mossy Oak® Infinity or Realtree® AP™ camouflage to help hunters blend into any environment.
