NEW CANYON COOLERS® 5-GALLON WATER COOLER

Seriously Tough Water Cooler for Camping, Construction Site, Tailgating and More

Whether for work or play, life is best lived outside. Stay hydrated out there with the new Canyon Coolers® 5-Gallon Water Cooler. Built to withstand whatever the harshest environment or Mother Nature throws your way, the virtually unbreakable water cooler was constructed for repeated outdoor use all while keeping its contents thoroughly insulated, living up to its promise of being “ridiculously cold” and “seriously tough”.

Finally, all the toughness, technology and performance of a premium Canyon Cooler is available in a seamless, heavy-duty water cooler. The Canyon Coolers 5-Gallon Water Cooler was intelligently designed with a number of practical features making it ideal for the work site, when tailgating, or for use at your next outdoor excursion or sporting event. The Canyon Coolers Water Cooler holds 4.9 gallons of liquid, and keeps it cold for extended periods of time thanks to its extra-thick quality insulation constructed of high density Polyurethane. In fact, this impressive high-quality insulation foam measures an impressive 1.5 inches thick around the sides and 3 inches in the lid. This means that you'll not only have enough beverage for the entire baseball team or for all the workers on the construction site, it'll be cold enough to refresh and re-energize for the rest of the work day or another nine innings.

Of course, keeping beverages ice-cold isn't just for refreshing comfort, according to the FDA, keeping temperatures at or below 40° F (4° C) prevents most bacteria growth. This is an important factor when it comes to protecting your employees, protecting productivity as well as spending less time sanitizing and replacing cheaper (less performing) coolers.

Durability was paramount in the development of the design for the Canyon Cooler 5-Gallon Water Cooler. No need to be delicate with this cooler as the outer shell resists scratching, denting and fading from harsh UV rays. Same goes for the inside of the cooler which has a pure white plastic liner that is easy to clean and is stain and odor resistant. A recessed plastic spigot allows for drip-proof dispatching of beverages.

Perfect for installation on your truck, the new Canyon Coolers Water Cooler fits with standard truck mounts, plus has a tamper-proof lockable lid for security and tie down slots. Canyon Coolers is so confident in the performance of its new 5-gallon water cooler that the company backs it up with a six-year manufacturer warranty.
