INTRODUCING NEW BONE BRACKET™ FROM SKULLHOOKER™ The Simple Yet Stylish Mounting Solution for Displaying Trophy Antlers

SkullHooker™ has revolutionized the way hunters hang and display their European skull mounted trophies with the introduction of a superior mounting system that offers enhanced features and style. SkullHooker has now used that innovative mindset to create a simple, functional and stylish mounting solution — for hunters choosing to mount their skull capped horns and antlers using the skull plate as a base — with the introduction of the new SkullHooker Bone Bracket™. Thanks to SkullHooker, hunters will be rejoicing in and out of the woods this fall.

SkullHooker's Little Hooker™ and Big Hooker™ reformed European mounts and spawned a new generation of mounts in the process. The innovative system proved more secure and solved the common problems associated with other mounting methods by offering the advantage of changing the angle and perspective of the mount any time you move, rearrange your mounts or simply when the mood strikes.

SkullHooker realized that hunters already have countless sets of mounted and un-mounted skull capped trophy antlers — hung over the rafters of a garage or barn, or forgotten in a corner. SkullHooker's Bone Bracket not only offers a solution to clean up your forgotten trophies, it offers the hunter a simple solution to honor his or her harvest by proudly displaying it.

SkullHooker's Bone Bracket is the penultimate mounting system for skull-capped horns for several reasons. It replaces a screw through the cap to create a static looking wall mount. Designed using the same, popular, powder-coated bracket system featured on SkullHooker's Little Hooker and Big Hooker, the Bone Bracket is fully adjustable and allows you to mount and tweak the trophy to the optimum viewing angle and display. You can then come back and change it anytime you wish and to any position or perspective.

SkullHooker's Bone Bracket comes in Graphite Black to match most any room décor. The unit has three main components: the wall plate, swing arm and mounting base, which provide the adjustability. With the Bone Bracket, set up and mounting of your skullcap is as easy as screwing in a couple of screws. MSRP is $19.99.
