THEY'RE HERE... ZOMBIES IN 3D!

Be Ready For a Zombie Outbreak With The New Woodland Zombie 3D Target By Rinehart®

If you're looking for a killer new way to practice your arrow placement, the new Woodland Zombie Target by Rinehart® is right up your alley. Seriously, what's more fun than practicing your shot on the living dead? Unlike the popular zombie character that's known to ooze or bust zombie guts and blood at impact, this cool new Zombie Target heals in seconds, providing endless shooting practice at the walking dead – with 'no mess' (of target foam or zombie guts).

You'll be known as the zombie exterminator should the zombie apocalypse become reality, thanks to practice on the new Woodland Zombie Target. Until then, it'll certainly help you perfect your shot, and be the envy of all your shooting buddies. The target features not just one, but two creepy zombie heads to shoot at, with one on each side of the target – both with detailed faces scary enough to make your neighbor's jump in their tracks.

Even a straight shot to the head won't keep this zombie from coming back for more. In fact, the Woodland Zombie Target is constructed from the company's Woodland Series FX Foam that can absorb shot after shot of field points, broadheads or expandable-tip arrows without tearing or losing its shape – surviving, and staying 'alive' even through the harshest abuse of both club and competitive shooting.

Like the 'real thing', the Rinehart Zombie can withstand even the harshest weather conditions. Its weatherproof exterior is resistant to sun, heat and cold – making it ideal for practice year-round. Plus, the unique and fun target is so lightweight, it's easy to transport and set up whenever and wherever needed.
