SHIELD AND ORGANIZE WITH FIELDLINE® TACTICAL 38" COBRA GUN CASE™

There Is No Better Way to Protect the Firearm that Protects You

Most gun cases do a decent job of making sure your weapon is not scuffed or dinged between home and the range. However, Fieldline has designed a case that takes on many more responsibilities while giving unrivaled protection to your firearm. The new 38-inch Cobra Gun Case, part of the company's new Fieldline Tactical Series, is constructed to meet the demanding needs of serious shooters.

The Fieldline Tactical 38-inch Cobra is a soft shell case constructed of heavy-duty polyester fabric that is both water and abrasion resistant. The inside compartment where your weapon is secured features a soft, snag-proof synthetic lining which cradles the firearm against a dense protective layer of high-impact foam. This combination is tender to the finish of your weapon, yet offers rugged defense against any hard knocks. The width of the case is more than generous enough to accept scoped tactical rifles. Access to your weapon couldn't be easier, as two full-length slider zippers allow for instant opening.

What really sets this case apart from others are the external pockets that allow serious shooters to be seriously organized. The Fieldline Tactical 38-inch Cobra's three utility pockets, which are secured with heavy-duty buckles, offer enough space for extra magazines, safety equipment and tools.

As for toting the Cobra, Fieldline designed not only an easy-carry handle that wraps all the way around the case for extra durability, but also a padded shoulder strap to make long walks with a fully loaded case very comfortable.

Fieldline offers its lifetime guarantee on the 38-inch Cobra, which is another level of protection the company believes its customers deserve. The Fieldline Tactical 38-inch Cobra Gun Case is available in black, coyote and digital sand camo.

The Fieldline Tactical series is a sleek new line of high performance gun cases, backpacks and accessories constructed to provide maximum utility for your gear in action.
