NEW RINEHART® FIELD TARGET™ (RFT) IS THE PERFECT “GO ANYWHERE” PRACTICE COMPANION FOR BOWHUNTERS AND COMPETITIVE ARCHERS

Compact Enough to Fit in an Overhead Bin, Tough Enough to Take Your Best Shots

Serious bowhunters and archers take their practice seriously. Finding a time and place to practice, however, isn't always easy — especially when you're traveling. It's for this specific purpose that leading American 3D target manufacturer Rinehart® has introduced its new Rinehart Field Target™ (RFT).

Rinehart's new RFT is the perfect way for “on-the-go” bowhunters or archers to perfect their shooting skills and accuracy. This 9” diameter circular target is lightweight and small enough to carry anywhere — even in the overhead compartment of an airplane. Even so, it provides plenty of different sized, clearly marked target zones to take aim at from any angle.

Take Rinehart's RFT to your treestand for some quick last minute shots to fine tune your skills or use it as a yardage marker. There's literally no set up required — just toss it out into the field — it's balanced with sand, so it will land upright every time — and you and your friends are ready to fire away. This affordable target makes it easy to practice wherever you are — in the backyard, on the range, in deer camp or from your stand.

Rinehart's RFT weighs only a few ounces, but gives you the performance and durability you're looking for. Like all Rinehart targets, the RFT is made from Rinehart's exclusive solid self-healing foam. This means it can absorb hit after hit from field points and expandables without tearing or damage. When you've emptied your quiver, it's a breeze to pull out your arrows and start over again. Even a kid can do it!
