GRIZZLY CARTRIDGE BRINGS OUT THE BIG GUNS FOR COWBOY ACTION WITH NEW .44 LOAD

New 240-Grain .44 Mag SWC Cowboy Action Load From Grizzly Cartridge Co. is On Target

Rainier, Ore. – Grizzly Cartridge Co. has built a reputation for factory-loaded ammunition that exceeds expectations and gives you custom, hand-loaded performance. Cowboy action shooters have long loved Grizzly Cartridge Co. loads and will flock toward the latest offering – a 240-grain SWC round for the .44 magnum.

“We set out to produce a highly accurate round for the .44 Magnum with a 240-grain semi-wadcutter bullet,” said Mike Rintoul, Grizzly Cartridge Co. Founder. “This is something our customers asked for, and something we wanted to make. It’s an accurate round that works well for cowboy action shooting with the .44.”

At 240 grains, the SWC bullet load from Grizzly is a big bullet that works perfectly for cowboy-action shooting because it is accurate and doesn’t easily give in to wind-drift, something to think about if your match is forecasted for high winds. With speeds around 850 feet per second, the bullet will be packing in excess of 400 foot-pound of kinetic energy, giving it plenty of oomph when it comes to shooting, making this round live up to the classic .44 mag reputation. If you’re into shooting a .44 for SASS matches, this is the ammunition you need.
