RACK ANOTHER SHELL WITH THE NEW DICKINSON ARMS 410 PUMP-ACTION SHOTGUN

Everything You'd Ever Want in a .410 Pump-Action Shotgun

Dickinson Arms, a world leader in high-quality firearms, brings the reliability and style of a classic pump-action shotgun, to increasingly popular .410 bore size. It offers classic styling into a light, fast-pointing gun you will enjoy for years to come.

Small-bore shotguns are growing in popularity. Hunters are flocking to the added challenge and rejoicing in the lighter recoil that comes with a smaller gun. The shooting world is repeatedly asking manufacturers to come out with more options for small-bore fans. Dickinson Arms responds with their new .410 Pump, a classic pump-action design using beautiful Turkish walnut for the furniture.

The Dickinson .410 Pump has a vent rib with a front bead sight. The shotgun uses a screw-in choke system for adaptability. The shotgun also has a safety that is set by the trigger for ease of use in the field. The trigger guard is spacious for comfort when wearing gloves. The fine-line checkering in the grip will keep your hands in place. The .410 Pump has a wide reload port for faster reloads and a 3-inch chamber. It is a great choice for beginning shooters and experienced hunters alike, making it a great option for upland and small game hunting.
