DICKINSON ARMS IS TALKING TURKEY WITH NEW SHOTGUNS

Hit the Woods with Two New Turkey Hunting Shotguns, Loaded with Every Feature You Need

Dickinson Arms, a world-renowned leader in high-quality firearms, is well-known for quality shotguns and is strutting into the turkey-hunting scene with two new shotguns that are primed to gobble up the market this season. These new 12-gauge shotguns, one semi-automatic and one pump-action gun, are loaded with the features turkey hunters demand.

The pump-action Commando XX3T-C-2 and semi-automatic 212C24-OS are built with the world's most advanced CNC manufacturing technology. Both are finished in Mossy Oak™ Obsession camouflage, perfect for blending into any conditions. Both 12-gauge shotguns have a 3-inch chamber.

The 212C24-OS semi-automatic 12-gauge shotgun has a contoured, pistol-grip stock and a 24-inch barrel with ventilated rib. It comes with hi-vis fiber optic front and rear sights as well as picatinny railing on the top of the receiver, so you can mount the turkey optic of your choice. It also comes with an extended extra-full choke that has been tested for extremely tight patterns with multiple types of ammo, ensuring it has the best possible performance. You get an included hard-side carrying case and a magazine capacity-limiting plug. Being semi-automatic means you have extremely fast follow-up shots, just in case the tom moves at the last minute.

The Commando XX3T-C-2 pump-action, 12-gauge shotgun is similarly equipped with a contoured pistol grip stock and 24-inch barrel with a ventilated rib. It also uses the hi-vis fiber optic front and rear sights for outstanding visibility and accuracy. You can also mount your own turkey optic using the picatinny rail on top of the receiver. There is also a short rail on the bottom of the forestock to mount additional accessories. The Commando also comes with just an extended extra-full choke that has been tested for extremely tight patterns. You also get an included hard-side carrying case and a magazine capacity-limiting plug. The Commando is a reliable and affordable turkey gun that gives you options for how you set up on the birds.
