DICKINSON ARMS UNVEILS SELECTIVE TRIGGER PLANTATION SIDE-BY-SIDE SHOTGUNS

New Selective Single Trigger Shotgun Gives You Better Control of Your Shooting

Dickinson Arms, a world leader in high-quality firearms, brings a new selective trigger system to the side-by-side shotgun with the new Plantation models. These shotguns give you options for barrel selection in an elegant and classically styled side-by-side shotgun that you will enjoy shooting as much as you will admiring the beauty of the craftsmanship.

There is a lot of nostalgia in the side-by-side shotgun. These were the first multi-barreled shotguns used by hunters worldwide and they are a pleasure to shoot, both for hunting and for target. Dickinson's Plantation Series now has a selective trigger option, giving you a switchable single trigger with an all-new system specific to side-by-side guns. This new trigger means you don't have to move your finger to a second trigger, allowing for faster follow-up shots.

The construction is exactly what you'd demand in a quality shotgun. They use oil-rubbed Turkish Walnut for the English-style stock and forend, with hand checkering for grip. The metal receiver is bone-charcoal case hardened for a beautiful finish. The front bead is made from brass and there is a manual safety. These shotguns come in three barrel lengths - 26, 28, and 30-inches. You can get one in 12, 16, 20, and 28-gauge and .410. No matter what type of hunting or shooting you do, there is a selective trigger Plantation series side-by-side shotgun from the artists at Dickinson Arms for you.
